

End of Year, Start of Year Wishes & Poems

Eric Verhulst

Wishes for 1992

Last year I witnessed
The unreason
For Guarding old walls.
Since Mandelbrot
We know
That crumbled stones
Have a fractal beauty,
Just as the cost of England.
Fortresses are just a mirage.
Amid the chaos there is light.
The human species
Just witnessed another blip
On its lifeline.

E.V. December 1991.

Star spotting in 1997

*All over the intergalactic
Network space
Comets astonish the mind
Coming from nowhere
Shooting off to nowhere.*

*I sit on a hill
Looking over the digital valley.
The art of spotting the stars
Before they turn
From around a corner.
Becoming a meaningful signal.*

Eric.Verbulst@eonic.com

Credo in unum mundum

Mankind's horizon is expanding
But the masters live in yesterday.
Workers all over the world, unite !

Nations defend borders
Like dogs marking trees
But now we ride the wires
Looking beyond the walls.
In the virtual single universe
There are no trees to bark at.

Mind space over body space
No more body counts.
Minds all over the world, unite !

1998, a tick closer to reality.

Eric.Verhulst@eonic.com

A numbers game

As far as we know, it took less time than we can measure to start the universe.
Ten to the power minus forty three seconds, but that's now fifteen billion years ago
Still we wonder about what was before and what will be beyond.

So when Julius came, another star was born and we started counting again
So they say we are now two thousand years later.
Some of our friends say we are in the year five thousand seven hundred and sixty.

Some thousand years ago, people's memories became confused and
They went to battle in the friction zone where the star was born
Not so long ago, people were killed in that same battle.

In ten minutes a plane is leaving that was delayed for sixty minutes
I am getting closer to the center of the friction zone
Selling the Virtue of context switches measured in nanoseconds.

Next year they say, the world will start spinning at hyperspeed velocity.
Traveling the wires at increasing speed, is what keeps us ticking
Filling the friction gap in human memory in the year two thousand.

eric.verhulst@eonic.com, December 1999

Wishes for the Fishes in 2000

The God of Pure Logic
Did he foresee the lack of reason in big numbers ?
The new Millennium started as a big number,
But when the bubble burst
False eyes stared in the face.
Ten silver coins,
Ten million chickens,
Ten million dollars,
In the name of the Golden Calf.
No prisoners are taken
While the Pharisee counts his metal,
Pilate washes his hands in innocence.
The prophets are doomed,
The return after the city has been burned.
How to be or how to be not.
At the end of times, that is the only question.

Wishes for the Eagles in 2001

It is said that climbing a mountain is a difficult feat.
The simpletons try to walk in a straight line
And crash in mid-air.
Others believe they only need to walk the stairs,
The brave ones know the path is with many pitfalls
And only perseverance will reach the peak.
As I stand now, we have left the pond
And reached the first hill.
The Valley that looked within distance
Has become a ridge with many mountains to reach.
Looking back, I see the red mud of a previous battle.
Stained by the blows of beating the wind,
There is no future in the past
And I take the jump off the cliff.
Carried by the wind of tomorrow
I reach for new heights and master the world on the ground.
The Eagle flies again.

eric.verhulst@eonic.com, December 2000

The noise of times

Nothing is so difficult as not deceiving yourself,
Said Wittgenstein and the world started shivering,
Deadly were the ripples.

Is this the battle for rightness or for forgiveness ?
Is this the battle of reason or of instinct ?

Bridging the millennia musters a new balance,
A struggle to keep the animal at bay.

I see three girls singing and dancing.
I see in them a past I know well,
Yet sometimes they know the future better.

When the green leaves turn red,
I know the Wahnwitz has taken hold.
Those who mistrust the future
Are known to be left behind.

Le Grand V est mort, vive le Grand A !

Eric.Verhulst@eonic.com, December 2001,

The Phoenix Rises Again

*Red is the color of the sun at its daily birth.
Red is the color of the sun when it goes into hiding.
Light and darkness, two ways of living.
Life and death, two ways of being.
Red is the color of the stone on the mountain I am climbing
It's inner fire reminding me of Dante's visions.
The hell of things is inside.
I wonder how man keeps climbing betrayed so often by his lack of reason.
It is said the red bird will be born again whenever the madness has taken hold.
I watch as its flaming body arches on a sky of white stripes.
Its killers left behind turned into pillars of salt.
I get up and take the next step.
At the horizon the red sun is rising.*

Our best wishes for a better New Year

And then came 2004

I have no words for the past year,
having been where I never have been before.

Cold is the winter,
cold can be the human mind
rattling in its cage trying to escape from an aggressive past.

There's only a small margin Between being and not-being a human with a human mind.
Where's the hidden code buried in the billion years old program ?

The Beauty and the Beast.
If evil could be chased from our dreams
we would all be human.

eric.verhulst@lancelot.be, December 2003

*A drop of water in the sea of Asov where could it be?
A brick in the wall, did it make any change?
Life itself is telling otherwise,
not all bricks are equal.
Just like the butterfly can create a storm,
flapping its wings
and people can get killed for it.*

*Freedom of speech
Freedom of thought
Freedom of work
Freedom to work
Freedom to exist
Freedom to be.*

*Velvet is the revolution, orange its color.
The step is small and the road is long.
It did make a change, nobody got hurt and people started dreaming again.*

Best wishes for 2005 and beyond

Eric.Verhulst@OpenLicenseSociety.org

Wishes with a picture

Freedom of speech in 2005

Ugly fish is looking around
It's head in the sand.
A crooked smile showing greedy teeth
But where's the substance?

< claiming democracy, grabbing in the bag >

Leave us alone, someone else will sweat the bill.
Someone said as deficits come on their own,
They will go on their own.
Obviously nothing could be less true,
And grabbing with tricks,
the balance got patched.

Meanwhile the forest got smoked,
Leaving the tar pits behind,
the birds gasping for air.

I claim the right to be,
I claim the right to speak,
I claim the right to work.

Words are not meant to hurt,
Words are meant to think.

Solidarity can be an ugly word.
F as in Freedom to give and accept
Not as in Freedom to take and force.

I grant the right to work,
I grant the right to speak,
I grant the right to be.

Wishes for a better 2006, eric.verhulst@workforall.org

Wishes for the workers anno 2007

Some say we are a loner,
after all the world isn't black.
It looks like black because some paint it black.

Some say there's no logic,
after all the world isn't for loonies.
It looks like that because some like to take it all.

A Möbius strip is the ultimate time warp machine.
It hits you in the face if you don't follow its thread.
Unless you posses the fifth dimension.

There ain't no sugar cubes unless there's some logic in the squares.
Atom to atom, link to link. Even with Schrödinger's cat, sugar is.

Gentle is the breeze, moist is the air. I see a sea of grains.
None are equal but they create a silvering beach.

From every node, I see a line of thought.
Some will reach for the stars,
Some will only reach the beach,
But the essence is, they reach.

What would music be if we just played the tones?
After all harmonics make up the sound.
What would a forest be if we cut it short?
After all blossoms make up the color.

No man is equal, it better be.
All I want is equal opportunity,
It better be.

eric.verhulst@workforall.org anno 2007

*Looking beyond makes you dream.
Looking back makes you wonder why.*

What can I wish You for the coming Year? More Power and Gold? Or should I say More of a Real Life of your own Work and Freedom? Less Taxes comes to Mind. The World is accelerating at a brisk Pace. Turbulence all over the bloody Place, to be taken literally. The Balance is delicate. Shall We All perish in the Rush or shall We be lucky and find Nirvana in Peace? Maybe We need the Turbulence to be reminded how peaceful it could be if We All just did All We could to reach for It. If you ask Me, last Year was bad enough although History has seen worse. Whatever, I wish You All a better and happy 2008. It helps to keep repeating the same Wishes every Year.

Wishes for a new pebble on the beach of Ostend 2008

The sea burns my skin. Its turbulence washes the shore.
Time unrolls its history like waves hitting the beach.
So many steps washed away in a single sweep.

Sometimes I wish the sea would clear the land from all its greed.
Life is short, just a gust of wind in the line of time.
Why waste it in lust for power and gold ?

Deep in the program of life, I have two eyes just like the fish have.
Deep in the program of life, I have the will to survive just like we all have.
Deep in the program of life, I have a brain to think and ponder why I am here.

I leave my steps on the beach, no one can say where I came from.
I leave my steps on the beach, no one can say where I went to.
I leave my steps on the beach, no one can say which one was my step.

Shall I leave it to that and walk into the sea, never turning back?
Wind and water will quickly erase the steps, forgotten for eternity.
I go to the shore and bury my feet in the sand.
As long as I stand waves will hit my face but I will remain.

There's a new pebble on the beach, someone will pick it up.
There's a new pebble on the beach, someone will cherish it.

Eric.Verhulst @ WorkForAll.org

A decade of Vaporware anno 2010

Empires die like old men
Whispering or falling from a throne
With power corrupted minds.
Why gather more when some day
All will be in vain?

Surrounded by wizards of the court,
Golden books in their hands,
Secretly gathering favors.
The citizen is just a subject,
Waiting to be taxed and judged.

Living at the expense of others
Selling dried air to those who trust
That the world is a better place
And neighbors can be friends.
Stasis müssen auch leben.

Alas, when the tsunami strikes,
Walls come down.
Many are left behind
Gathering the pieces
To rebuild their lives.

Kondratieff took the long view
He understood the waves of life.
Technology will never change facts.
The rise and fall of generations.
Les vieux ont l'oeil de Moscou.

Inflated egos leave their souls behind.
Burning energy anticipating hell.
Made from clay by the god of power.
Who has no mercy for those who sweat.
The trick is to make them vote.

Give me gold, I'll give you paper.
How many fortunes were made this way?
Paying the bills is easy
As long as you jump ship on time.
Après nous le déluge.

The sun sneezes bursting flames
Its waves heating the little rock.
No number can fool me forever.
Deserts getting frigid at night.
Burning fossils is sin.

Humans thrive on flocking up mountains
Crashing down on the other side.
Be brave my child,
There's always another mountain to climb

A decade of Vaporware anno 2010

Empires die like old men
Whispering or falling from a throne
With power corrupted minds.
Why gather more when some day
All will be in vain?

Surrounded by wizards of the court,
Golden books in their hands,
Secretly gathering favors.
The citizen is just a subject,
Waiting to be taxed and judged.

Living at the expense of others
Selling dried air to those who trust
That the world is a better place
And neighbors can be friends.
Stasis müssen auch leben.

Alas, when the tsunami strikes,
Walls come down.
Many are left behind
Gathering the pieces
To rebuild their lives.

Kondratieff took the long view
He understood the waves of life.
Technology will never change facts.
The rise and fall of generations.
Les vieux ont l'oeil de Moscou.

Inflated egos leave their souls behind.
Burning energy anticipating hell.
Made from clay by the god of power.
Who has no mercy for those who sweat.
The trick is to make them vote.

Give me gold, I'll give you paper.
How many fortunes were made this way?
Paying the bills is easy
As long as you jump ship on time.
Après nous le déluge.

The sun sneezes bursting flames
Its waves heating the little rock.
No number can fool me forever.
Deserts getting frigid at night.
Burning fossils is sin.

Humans thrive on flocking up mountains
Crashing down on the other side.
Be brave my child,
There's always another mountain to climb

*Best wishes for the next decade,
eric.verhulst*

Approximate size of earth for comparison

(Sun playing hockey with mother earth)

*If the world defies logic,
 Where do we look for answers?
 If the world needs no logic,
 Why do we look for answers?
 Logic is in meaning, said Wittgenstein.
 All logic trees have a root, said Gödel.
 The question is, which root is right?*

*Parallel universes exist
 In the mind of each.
 We decide by consensus
 Until a new truth was proven right ;-)
 The model is the system
 When it passes Turing's test.*

*Respect is, you might be wrong.
 Respect is, to accept the facts.
 There is no Right and Left,
 Les extrêmes se touchent.*

*Wishes for clarity in 2011,
 Ratio clearing the mind.*

Eric.Verhulst (@) Altreonic.com